James Payne Receives CAS

Credential

In October 2004, James R. Payne, III was awarded the Certified Anti-Terrorism Specialist (CAS) designation by the Anti Terrorism Accreditation Board (www.goATAB.org). As a Certified Anti- Terrorism Specialist, Mr. Payne has joined an elite group of professionals who are dedicated to safely responding to Terrorist events.

James Payne is President of 6P International, a multidisciplinary firm providing Integrated Preparedness solutions to industry, government, and other public and private agencies. 6P International provides managed services to assist facilities in maintaining compliance with OSHA, JCAHO, EPA, FDA, DOT, NFPA, CDC and other regulatory standards as they relate to emergency management and health & safety programs.

In addition to his duties with 6P International, James is also the Battalion Personnel Officer with the North Carolina Army National Guard's 105th Military Police Battalion. His recent assignments included tours of duty in Afghanistan and Iraq in support of Operation Enduring Freedom and Operation Iraqi Freedom and as a Quick Reaction Force Company Commander in Louisiana in support of Hurricane Katrina relief efforts. He is also a member of the American Society of Safety Engineers, International Association of Emergency Managers, and Charlotte Chapter of Infragard.

By choosing to become a Certified Anti-Terrorism Specialist, James has demonstrated that he has acquired the knowledge to safely respond to actual or threatened Terrorist events. Not only does James benefit from the training and certification as a CAS, but clients of 6P International will realize the benefit as well with his increased awareness and knowledge.
